PT Bank Central Asia Tbk FY23 Results

25 January 2024

Agenda

- Economic Highlights
- Banking Industry Updates
- FY23 Performance Overview
- Sustainability Finance and ESG

Economic Highlights

Economic Highlights (1/2)

1 Real GDP growth, by drivers

- Resilient household consumption and government spending supports GDP growth amid a decline in exports ...

3 Nominal-real GDP gap & terms of trade

- Nominal GDP growth eased to 4.5% in Q3-23 (from 17.3% in Q2-22), due to normalization of commodity prices ...

2 Listed companies CAPEX & revenue growth

- ... while appetite for private investments has remained strong despite flatter corporate revenue growth

4 Nominal GDP growth & BCA transaction data

- ... but nominal GDP growth is bottoming out, as seen from the rebound in transaction volumes at the tail-end of 2023

Economic Highlights (2/2)

5 BI policy rate & USD/IDR exchange rate

- BI's 250 bps rate hike between Aug-22 and Oct-23 was largely driven by pressures from the US Dollar as Fed rate increased

6 Headline & core inflation

- Inflation has eased considerably after the fuel price hike in late 2022, and appears likely to stay at low-to-moderate levels

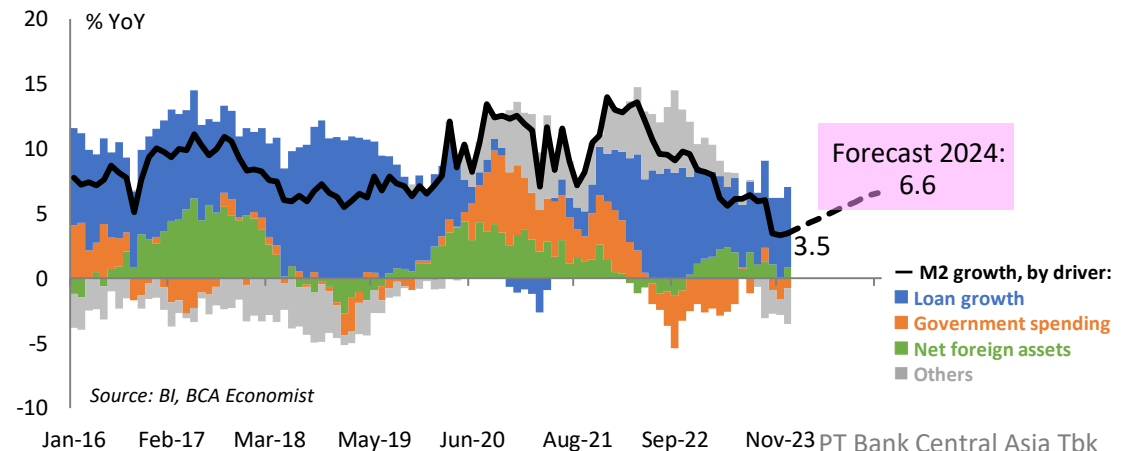

7 Real rate differentials

- But similarly rapid dis-inflation in the US has narrowed Indonesia's real rate differentials ...

8 Broad money (M2) & drivers of liquidity

- ... which limits foreign inflows and, along with the limited government spending, is slowing down the growth of domestic money supply

Banking Industry Updates

Banking Industry

1 Loans, Nominal GDP Growth (YoY), GDP Multiplier

- Steady loan expansion post pandemic. Nominal GDP growth softened affected by global disinflation and easing commodity prices.

3 Industry Funding Rate – Rupiah Only

- ... banking sector cost of fund has been rising...

2 M2 & CASA growth

- The slowdown in money supply has translated in particular to slower CASA growth on top of the high domestic interest rate environment...

4 Current Account Balance & LDR

- ... the potential return of current account deficit could elevate sector LDR.
